We are arranging transport for small purchases to arrive at the port of Liverpool by 1st November. We expect these purchases to be expensive and dangerous, so we are writing to you to see if there are any alternative arrangements that you can suggest.

Arrangements can be made to transport these goods directly from Liverpool to the place of destination. This will reduce the risk of damage and ensure that the goods arrive in good condition.

We hope to hear from you shortly about these matters.

My dear Lord,

You have no doubt seen in the press that the question of the refugees from Asia Minor came up before the Assembly. I am happy to say a great deal of interest was displayed concerning the plight of these unfortunate people and the Assembly in the first place voted the sum of 100,000 francs to be placed at my disposal for administrative purposes. It has been understood that my organisations for refugees would be utilised for the purposes of bringing such help as I could to the refugees in Smyrna along the coast of the Sea of Marmora at Gediz and elsewhere. I do not, however, contemplate any action for the present for refugees who are in Greece or elsewhere under the care of the Greek or British Governments.

I have been fortunate in obtaining the sum of £50,000 from the British Government, conditional it is true upon other Governments raising an equivalent sum. I have already obtained promises of £6000 from the Greek Government, £1000 from New Zealand, and probably as much from Luxembourg. Other contributions are outstanding, and I expect that the British Government will in any case contribute substantially, even though the sum of £50,000 be not entirely covered.† I have also hopes of obtaining help from Allenby in Egypt.

My first aim is to bring food as quickly as possible to the refugees concentrated within reach of Constantinople, where the Home Office, as was explained to the Assembly, can most usefully act. I have wired to Collin at Sofia to send immediately in Bulgaria 1000 tons of flour, not of grain, because this would mean further delay in distribution. With the assistance of the Bulgarian delegation here I have already been notified of 300 tons at Sofia and of a considerable quantity at Bourgas. The Bulgarian Government would do everything possible to hasten the delivery at a new port, but I was very sorry to hear that it might take ten days before the flour would actually be delivered at Varna or Bourgas. Still I hope that the efforts of my representative at Sofia will lead to discovering flour close to either of the ports mentioned and that therefore delivery could take place much more quickly. The question of finding tonnage is therefore a very urgent one and I hope that you would be able to give me more encouragement than you did in your telegram just received, in which you said that we cannot count on the grain arriving before mid-October at the earliest.

I shall, however, be very glad to hear of any offers for flour or a break port which you may be able to receive by tomorrow.

I will keep you informed as to the progress of my negotiations with Bulgaria and would be only too
I am pleased if on your part you could manage to find a quicker method.

I have received a telegram from Constantinople today, saying that half the quantity purchased should be sent to Rodosto, where it appears about 80,000 refugees are concentrated, the other half being probably more needed at some port in Asia Minor.

As to payment I think I shall receive money from the British Government before long, but you know how inclined they are to delay matters and we shall probably be compelled to utilise the funds at your disposal for Russian refugees. I suppose that by now you have received the £20,000 from Constantinople from the British Treasury and my office here is sending you a cheque for £5000 received from the American Red Cross, also as a contribution towards the £30,000 fund. Please keep me so that the money is available for requisition to Bulmarie or elsewhere at the shortest notice.

Believe me,

Yours very sincerely,

Dear de Watteville,

Since writing my first letter today I have seen this morning's English papers, with their account of Balfour's and Newman's speeches at the Assembly. I do not gather from the report whether you have any concrete evidence that there is flour available in Bulgaria, nor am I quite clear whether you propose to send the flour, assuming you can get it, to Smyrna or to a Greek port.

I am trying to see whether a prompt boat would be obtained to load in Bulgaria. Assuming that this boat were Greek, is anybody in a position to give a guarantee about its safety if it goes to or through the waters that are controlled by the Turks?

I will see whether I can get a cif. offer of flour.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. de WATTEVILLE,
League of Nations,

GENEVA

Dear de Watteville,

I have two telegrams this morning, one asking for a ship to carry 1000 tons cereals to a Levant port and a second asking in preference for two ships carrying 500 tons each.

I enclose copy of my telegram to you. I do not think it is practicable to attempt from Geneva or Paris to buy fob, in Bulgaria or anywhere else quantities like 1000 tons and arrange its shipment to Greece. I do not say that it could not be done locally on the spot, though I would hesitate myself to take all the risks involved in giving a local firm a free hand. Remember that the small ships in the Black are certainly all Greeks, who would think a long time before passing through the Dardanelles now.

I happened to know that friends of ours in Paris had already fixed a French boat to load grain in the Danube about September 30th. The boat is about 3000 dw, so that she will certainly take a week to load. I know she has Greek options. I have asked them if they can make me a firm offer of 1000 tons cereals cif. a Greek port and they are telegraphing to Roumania to know how they stand. I expect to get an offer from them sometime tomorrow, which I will transmit to you. You must reply at once, because I can't expect the offer to be kept open for more than a very short time.

To what port do you want the grain sent? Who will take delivery of it at the discharging port? Where is the money coming from to pay for it?

I see a report that Balfour offered £50,000 provided the rest of the world did likewise, but you can't pay for grain with contingent promises, so that I suppose you will want to embezzle Russian Refugees' money temporarily. If so I hope you will get approval from Balfour or from somebody in the British Delegation who will be prepared to see us through.

Yours sincerely,

Encl.

Dear de Watteville,

I have arranged for £9000 to be paid to the Imperial Ottoman Bank at Alexandria to the account of Hornblower. I hope that this will arrive in time, and that the banks will not raise any difficulties about the inadequacy of the identity of the recipient.

I know that "Necessity knows no Law", but you won't mind my salving my conscience by saying that to part with big sums of money, without any documents or guarantees, is a very risky proceeding.

I hope you will do your best to see that the British Government pay up part of their contribution promptly.

I have not yet got any C.I.F. offers of flour to transmit to you, nor have I yet any news of a boat which I hope to be available to load any stuff that you may be able to buy at Varna or Bourgas.

I am not in the least bit astonished that it takes ten days before the flour could actually be delivered at the seaport.
If you are dealing with small quantities like 500 tons, I am sure that you must leave Collins to arrange the transport himself locally, with the possible aid of Constantinople. Boats of that size cannot be obtained in Paris or London for prompt loading like this.

Yours sincerely,

My dear Johnson,

I have told my friends in Paris to tell their Romanian correspondents to put themselves in touch with Collins at Sofia with regard to flour. I think this is better than attempting to do these things via Paris.

Yours sincerely,
Dear Sir,

In reply to your telegram I beg to state following:

1/ I confirm my telegram of to-day's date:

"REFERING THOUSAND TONS FLOUR STOP BRITISH COMMERCIAL SECRETARY PROMISED THAT BRITISH MINISTER WILL APPLY PERSONALLY TODAY POLISH PRIME MINISTER FOR EXPORT LICENCE STOP LETTER FOLLOWS.

2/ Your telegram was received by me only on Saturday 30th September at 1 o'clock, never the less I was able to see the same day the Director of the "Spolka Akc. dla Handlu Ziemieplodami". He stated that they could supply 1000 tons of rye flour but could not guarantee that an export licence would be granted. They promised to make inquiries about the freight from Poland to Galatz and Constantineopol and will quote us prices in a day or two. The present price for rye flour is 70% about 325000. - Polish Marks per ton /about 3½ Amer. Dollars/
50% " 390000. - " " " / " 45 " " 1 / 4 franco wagon without export licence. The inspection of the quality would have to be made here in Warsaw or another station in Poland from where the flour would be despatched.
3/ I applied this morning to Mr. Kimens, His Britannic Majesty’s Commercial Secretary at Warsaw and asked him for his assistance in obtaining an export licence for the 1000 tons rye flour. He told me that the British Minister at Warsaw Sir William Max-Müller is going to see today the Polish Prime Minister, Mr. Nowak and that he will ask the Minister to submit the question of granting us an export licence to the Prime Minister.

4/ For the present only the export of potatoes and products of potatoes is allowed without any restrictions, but it has been stated that the export of a certain quantity of rye will also be allowed in the near future. The price of a ton of potatoes is between 20000.- and 40000.- Polish Marks per ton (about 3.50 - 4.60 Amer. Dollars).

GENEVA

Dear de Watteville,

I enclose copy of a telegram which I have received from Collins this morning, on which I have taken the necessary action.

I am bound to draw your attention to the fact that you have now spent £9000. at Alexandria, £5000. sent to Nansen, and Collins is now committed to £15,000. in Sofia - i.e. nearly £30,000. against which you have a conditional promise from the British Government of £50,000. and a certain number of other promises.

I think you ought to insist on the British Government paying a substantial proportion of their amount down on the ground that you cannot buy flour with promises.

I am quite aware that there is a hypothetical profit on the £150,000. deal against which British Government debts could be set, but you and I have both had enough experience of these matters to base little or no hopes on optimistic forecasts of profits. It is two years now since the C.I.C.R.
airily told Hamilton and myself that the repatriation of prisoners would be over in six months.

I do not doubt the good faith of Balfour and the British Government, but I am bound to point out that if I had had to depend on Balfour for anything over the first half of the British contribution to the Prisoner funds, I should have been in the soup. It is so easy for people to talk at Geneva, and so difficult to move the competent departments in London or elsewhere.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Bledermann,

I have been requested to reply to your letter No. 701 of the 2nd October, addressed to Mr. Hansen, in which you refer to the possibility of exporting rye flour and potatoes from Poland.

As you probably gathered from our recent telegram, asking you for quotation, these goods would be required for the refugees in Asia Minor, and it is therefore imperative that quotations should be made either c.i.f. Constantinople, Salonica, Athens or Kavalla.

It is also very essential for us to know when the goods could be delivered at any one of these ports, as this is of very great importance. Should the delivery time and the price be satisfactory, it may be possible for Mr. Hansen to consider an offer for rye flour but I am very doubtful whether he could entertain the idea of potatoes, as they are not easy to transport and are apt to deteriorate badly during transit, especially during cold weather, when they may be spoiled by frost or damp.

If the conditions mentioned above may be satisfactorily fulfilled it might be advisable for you to telegraph us a definite offer for the rye flour.

I am requested to call your attention to the fact that, as the Comité International de Secours à la Ruine has now been dissolved, its note paper should not be used.

GENEVA

Dear de Watteville,

I have received from Hornblower at Alexandria cable offer of Australian Roller Flour at £18.10.0 and Rangoon No3 at £16.- a ton, delivered at any Levant port. I have not answered, because I assume that Collins' purchase of 1000 tons in Bulgaria plus the previous purchase from Hornblower will meet your immediate needs. In any case I consider Hornblower's price outrageous.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. de Watteville,
League of Nations,

Dear de Watteville,

I have been notified by Hambros of the receipt of £16,000 from the Treasury.

With reference to your letter of the 7th, I am instructing Hambros to pay £18,000 to the British Trade Corporation in London to the credit of their Belgrade house to the joint account of Zwerner and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. You may assume that this payment will be made Wednesday or at the latest Thursday, so that you can telegraph to Zwerner giving him instructions as to what to do.

I have received a telegram from Collins at Sofia saying that his contract is made and that it will be necessary to pay the second 50% at the latest about the 15th. I have therefore instructed Hambros to pay a further sum of £7500 on the 14th of this month.

Thanks for the bundle of letters and vouchers which the Famine Office asked you to send, which I have received.

Yours sincerely,

T. Lodge

Dear de Watteville,

I was out when you telephoned today, but I understand your message to have been one requesting me to pay the second £7500.- to Collins. I had already given instructions to Hambros to do this on the 14th.

Yours sincerely,
Mr. de Watteville,

Gèneva

Dear de Watteville,

I am told that a firm offer of Roumanian flour could be got at Constanza for delivery at a Greek port, say Pyreus, at about 94 French francs per 100 kgs. I do not know whether you are interested in this, but I send it for what it is worth.

You would probably have to reckon at least three weeks from the date of accepting and making the contract before you could get the flour delivered.

Yours sincerely,

Greek refugees.
Dear de Watteville,

Citing to absence I have not been able to write you for some time. Owing to absence I have not been able to write you for some time. Only one thing was decided when Dr. Nansen passed here that was to purchase the flour. This is going through all right and is leaving today. Dr. Nansen also discussed repatriation question with me and last week he telegraphed from Constantinople authorising me to pay for the food for those being repatriated during the voyage. This entails an expenditure of 75 levas (approximately £3.6 per head).

We are now awaiting Dr. Nansen’s arrival here in connection with the proposal to evacuate 5000 refugees from Constantinople to Bulgaria.

The early liquidation of the Egyptian and Cyprus refugees who now number less than 500 is in progress. They should all be gone by the 1st of December.

I am anxiously awaiting your reply however concerning the question of clothing which I brought up in my letter J7/LN/IIC of September 22nd.

Lastly you know from the telegrams sent by Childs and myself yesterday the extremely awkward financial dilemma that I find myself in. I owe the Government, the Red Cross, the Union des Villes, besides others and I am literally “dunned” to pay out money. Besides the delicacy of the situation there is a financial loss involved owing to liquidation being delayed.

I think this is all for the moment but no doubt when Dr. Nansen arrives there will be a great deal more to report.

Yours faithfully,
